Elegant by nature

When we design a LEGO® floral arrangement, nature offers us a cornucopia of colours, plant species and scents for inspiration. Styling pastel and vibrantly coloured blossoms with elegant evergreens, we experimented with new techniques (and creative uses of LEGO elements) to bring this lavish bouquet to life. Every detail is meticulously recreated as an authentic and artistic tribute to nature's own diverse treasures.

The LEGO® Botanicals Design Team

From rebellious weed to beloved bouquet flower, this beauty thrives in Europe and North America and is wildly popular with bees and butterflies.

(Centaurea cyanus)

CORNFLOWER

(Eucalyptus pulverulenta)

EUCALYPTUS 'BABY BLUE'

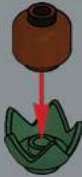

Also known as Australian silver-leaved mountain gum, this member of the eucalyptus species often complements flowers in bouquets around the world.

ELDER

Deciduous elder shrub species vary globally but most produce delicate white flowers and dark purple berries. Both are popular flavours in food and drinks.

ROSE

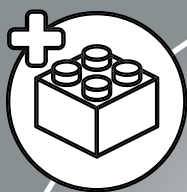

Gifted as symbols of love and tokens of beauty for centuries, roses in every colour add grace to any bouquet – in real life, and in LEGO® form.

(Felicia amelloides)

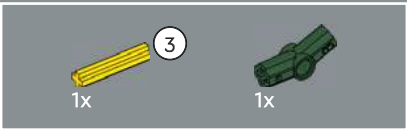

BLUE DAISY

Commonly found in Europe and North America, blue daisies symbolise commitment and trust, making them a perfect gift for a loved one.

Our LEGO® minifigures like flowers too. This little flower, originally designed as a small peony, now forms the centre of a rose.

The central spiral of petals in this rose is built from LEGO® car wheel arches.

CANTERBURY BELLS

A Southern European biennial, the Campanula's cup- or bell-shaped blossoms can usually be seen in blue, white or pink hues all through the summer.

(Ranunculus)

PERSIAN BUTTERCUP

Native to Europe, North America and Asia, the Persian buttercup, with its intricate layers of pastel-coloured petals, is always popular bouquet material.
